During the assessment process, individuals identify the services and supports they would like to self-direct. Based on what it would otherwise pay for that set of services, the MCO's interdisciplinary care management team designates an amount of money the individual can use to pay for services and supports. Individuals create a "SDS Plan" that outlines how they will direct those services and supports. This "SDS Plan" is approved by the individual's care management team. The interdisciplinary care management team will continue to manage any services and supports	The ADRC or waiver case manager informs individuals of their monthly budget allocation during enrollment counseling. Within their monthly budget allocation, individuals with the help of a chosen Independent Consultant create their own plan of services and supports. The Independent Consultant Agency (ICA) approves the support and service plan. Individuals have access to a wide range of services including a new service option called "Customized Goods and Services." Individuals may apply to the Department for adjustments to their budget amount if they are not able to develop a cost effective support and service plan with the
