

Congratulations

PREPPING FOR YOUR BABY

Free services from public health nurses are available for families.

Get in touch with a nurse over the phone or in person, at no cost to you! Public health nurses provide home visits for breastfeeding support and maternal emotional support. They can connect you to community agencies for housing, food, clothing, baby supplies, and diapers. Nurses also have information on the WIC (Women, Infants, and Children) Nutrition Program, Badger Care, and free vaccine clinics for baby and the rest of the family if eligible.

Public health nurses are here for you and your new baby!

We can help with:

What is the WIC Program? Women, Infants, and Children (WIC) is a supplemental nutrition program for children younger than age five and people who are pregnant, breastfeeding or postpartum. WIC provides nutrition education, breastfeeding support, supplemental nutritious foods and connections to other community services.

This institution is an equal opportunity provider.

Scan the QR code or visit www.dhs.wisconsin.gov/wic for more information about the WIC program and eligibility criteria.

The number one complication of childbirth is depression.

Baby blues, unlike postpartum depression, are common and usually go away within 2 weeks. Symptoms of baby blues include:

- Feeling overwhelmed
- Irritability
- Feeling anxious
- Mood swings, such as crying for no reason

After 2 weeks, symptoms of postpartum depression may include:

- Extreme tiredness
- Feeling overwhelmed, anxious
- Difficulty sleeping, not able to fall asleep
- Feeling hopeless, feeling numb
- Crying a lot
- Worry about how you feel about your baby

For postpartum depression support and resources, visit www.postpartum.net or call 1-833-943-5746 (1-833-9-HELP4MOMS).
