Reddy Kilowatt, your electric servant, says . . . "It's SUMMER TIME — but the livin' ain't easy"

Of course it isn't. There's too much to get done. Happily, many smart farm families have learned how an electric water heater can make every day just a little easier.

Work around the farm home isn't the problem it once was when you can rely on "always there" electricity to supply you with plenty of hot water.

Cost much? No. Automatic electric water heaters give wonderfully efficient hot water service on a special low-cost electric rate.

"A Century of Progress — A Greater Tomorrow"

Oshkosh, Wisconsin is located in the heart of the great midwest, and a line drawn to indicate a 300 mile radius would take in such cities as Milwaukee, Chicago, Detroit, Minneapolis and St. Paul, Des Moines, Cedar Rapids, Gary, and Grand Rapids.

Under the circumstances, Oshkosh suppliers, both wholesale and retail, are able to secure overnight service from manufacturers and wholesalers in these areas and, in turn, offer speedy service to the consumer.

Transportation facilities to and from Oshkosh are excellent—with 8 flights daily via North Central Airlines, with the famous "400" streamliners of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway, and with Greyhound Buses for all directions.

Oshkosh combines the facilities of an aggressive industrial and commercial city of 43,000 population with the vacationland facilities of 245 miles of open water within a radius of 20 miles. Fishing, boating, hunting and other outdoor sports are enjoyed all year.

AGRICULTURE IN WINNEBAGO COUNTY

BY

VERNON PEROUTKY

County Agricultural Agent

General: Winnebago county is located in east central Wisconsin, with Lake Winnebago, the state's largest lake, on the east. The total population is 91,103 (1950), 25,197 of which is rural in 16 townships.

Marketing of farm products and other transportation is provided through farm and commercial truckers, three railroads having depots in the area, plus the Greyhound bus line and scheduled flights of the Northwest Airlines.

The county is comparatively small being 62nd in size among the 71 counties, but it rates 31st in total cash farm income: Highly productive soils and little sub-marginal land, are explanations for this high comparative county rating: 82% of the farms are operated entirely or in part by owners.

Dairying is the principal farm enterprise, and one-half of the milk from the 34,000 dairy cows is sold on a Chicago or local Grade A markets. The latest report gives an average production of 8,000 pounds of milk per cow, annually, the highest of any county in the State. Other farm income is from the sale of livestock, including hogs and poultry, eggs are marketed locally as well as on the export market, and cash crops include grain, hay, peas, sweet corn, fruits, and some sugar beets.

Soils, Topography: Soils of the county are of glacial formation, high in lime, red clay and silty clay loams (dark soil), are most common with light soil in parts of two townships in the northwest. 14% of the total soil is muck, highly recognized for vegetable growing and regular cultivated farm crops. One-third of the land is tilled or ditched; otherwise, the land is more level than any county in the State, according to soil surveys. Over 200 farms have complete plans with the Soil Conservation Service.

Farms, Crops Raised: The 1950 Census shows 2,357 farms, averaging 108.1 acres each. Most farms with full time operation, average 120-200 acres, but there are numerous small farms adjoining the cities, these being operated by part-time city employed farmers.

Community Development, Roads, Recreation: Every community has a 4-H Club, a Homemaker's Club, and farm families are invited to be members of the Grange, and the Farm Bureau. Vocational agriculture is taught in high schools of Omro, Oshkosh, and Winneconne. There are numerous dairy and other livestock organizations. The Agriculture Extension Service is of aid to rural, as well as urban families, with an Agriculture Agent, Assistant Agent, Home Agent, and 4-H Club Agent. The office is located in the county court house, Oshkosh. The State College in Oshkosh, the county's public and parochial schools, coupled with school bus transportation, makes a complete education available, locally.

Practically every farm has a telephone, and the Agriculture Extension Service provides daily farm programs over the county's two radio stations. Television reception is excellent from Neenah, Green Bay, and Milwaukee.

The county has 140 miles of paved state highways, including the new Super Highway U. S. 41. Practically all county highways and a third of the town highways are hard surfaced.

Farming isn't complete without recreation. Besides the many organizations inviting folks as participants, there is bowling, basketball, football (State College of Oshkosh), as attractions. There is more water in and adjoining the county, than any other county in Wisconsin. Winter sports include ice fishing on Lake Winnebago, Lake Poygan, and Lake Butte des Morts. Duck hunting is popular in these areas, as well as on Rush Lake. The Wolf River at Winneconne, and the Fox at Omro, attract fishermen from the entire Middle West.
